Remington has been talking to me over the past 2 weeks or so. Putting together what she has told me since Feb. this is what I understand from her:

Taylor was in the car on the way to school. This is why Jackson was confused and thought Taylor died at school. They let Jackson out at school and Jason turned the car towards home. Taylor asked "What are you doing?" and Jason did not answer. Taylor asked over and over "What are you doing?" and Remington thought he was scared "like as if someone was driving off with him" (alternately has said "like as if someone was kidnapping him"). I asked "What was Daddy doing?" She said that he turned on "one of those lighter things" and put it to "one of those sticks". I said "I don't know what that is" and she said "you know, one of those sticks you blow on" which I believe was a cigarette. When they arrived at home Jason told Taylor and Remington to go to their rooms and he went to his room. Remington came out and from the stairs (I think) saw her mother get shot. She said that "Mommy moved funny like this" and she demonstrated with large movements of her arms, shoulders and body. I asked "What did you see?" and she said "Paper on the floor. Big papers like this. It was paper like you draw on. Maybe it was newspaper." I asked "What did Daddy do?" and she said "Burned the paper". I asked "Where was Daddy when Mommy got shot?" and she said "Standing on the paper." She said that her Mommy woke up before she was shot and screamed. She said that Taylor came out of his room and shouted "What are you doing?" when he saw the "blood on Mommy". She said "Taylor was scared, but Daddy was just faking like he was going to shoot Taylor. Daddy would never shoot Taylor" I said "But someone shot Taylor, who do you think did it?" and she said "Daddy did it" and then "That was the hard part Nana" in reference to her earlier telling me that she did not want to tell the hard parts. She said that her Daddy told her to go back in her room and she hid in the closet with the door closed. She heard Taylor scream several times and then another gunshot. She came "hurrying down the stairs to find Daddy". She went into her mother's room and tried to wake her but could not. She described small flickering movements of her mother's eyes (not sure if she saw eye movements or not) at she concentrates hard when she demonstrates how her mother's eyes looked to her). She got some blood on her arm. I asked "What did you do about the blood?" and she said "take a bath", I asked "where?" and she said "in the creek. Me and Daddy took a bath in the creek". After trying to wake Mommy she ran
